

Find the best energy, environment or social impact service providers for your next project anywhere in the world

Globality is disrupting the way companies buy and sell professional services around the world.

Finding a highly-specialized new energy, environment and social impact service provider is a complicated and expensive process – you can't risk working with just anyone that comes up on an internet search. If you do find that hidden champion, collaborating cross-border can be cumbersome.

We believe it's time for radical change in the way companies do business together.

Why Globality?

Globality has created the first business-to-business marketplace that connects global corporations with top small and midsize service companies.

We have reinvented how you initiate projects and find the best experts for the job. We use AI technology and in-house energy, environment or social impact experts to match you with the best service provider for your project. Our project management tools make collaborating and securely transacting with your new resources a seamless experience.

Globality's world-class experts are specialized in the energy, environment, marketing, legal and social impact industries (and we are adding more!)

Our marketplace

Clients: We serve some of the best global companies that are looking for SME service providers in markets all over the world.

Globality Service Provider Network: Our outstanding, pre-vetted service providers want to expand their business across borders. This hand-picked network currently extends to more than 50 countries across 6 continents.

AI-based platform: Our sophisticated AI-based technology anticipates your needs as you create project briefs and matches you with new service providers.

Globality's industry experts: Our world-class experts personally match you with service providers, as well as share industry insights, best practices and trends.

"...societies will succeed or fail depending upon how quickly individuals and groups committed to a sustainable future gain sufficient strength, skill and resolve by connecting with one another..."
